

DUEL WITH KNIVES.

Three Men Fight Savagely in Bleeker Street.

One of the Combatants Stabbed in the Abdomen.

The Trouble Said to Be About a Woman.

Policeman Zimmerman, of the Mercer street station, while walking along Bleeker street at 5 o'clock this morning heard cries of murder, and running in the direction of the sound, saw three men, each armed with a heavy knife, fighting in front of the tenement No. 164.

One was without a hat and wore a red shirt. The other two were in their shirt sleeves.

As they slashed at each other, jumping aside to get beyond the reach of the blows, they uttered cries of rage. The hand of one man was covered with blood which flowed from a cut in his wrist.

Just as the policeman came up one of the trio dropped to the pavement. The policeman rushed between the other two and knocked them from the hands of one with his billy and struck the other with his fist.

He was struggling with the two men when Policeman Connor came to his relief. Connor took the two men to the station, while Zimmerman looked after the injured man, who said his name was Gustav Simon.

An ambulance was called and the surgeon who responded found that Simon had a slash in the right arm, and a cut in the forehead, but no other serious injury.

At the station, the prisoner gave the name of Victor J. Fitch, twenty-four years old, and said he was in the house in front of which the duel took place.

All the prisoners were in the fight and that they had long had trouble, and decided to settle it as they did.

In the house, the man said that a feud existed between the three, growing out of the love of a woman named De Quincy, who resided in the house.

Fitch and Simon were arrested in Jefferson Market Police court. Mayor had several cuts on the face, none of which was very serious.

The men were committed to await the results of Simon's injuries.

MAT JOHNSON RESENTENCED.

Kukelhorn's Murderer to Die During the Last Week in February.

Matthew Johnson, the colored man who was convicted of the murder of Engineer Emil Kukelhorn, in December, 1892, was to-day resented to death by Justice Ingraham, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer.

When asked whether he had anything to say, Johnson replied: "I would like to, but I am too weak to talk, so I will say nothing."

Abraham Levy, Johnson's counsel, who defended him against overwhelming odds at the trial, said that he was present to say a kind word to his client.

The sentence of the Court is that Johnson must die during the week beginning Feb. 12, in the electric chair.

DID SHE DRUG HIM?

Mrs. Lena Haag Accused of Robbing Her Old Father.

Police Looking for Oliver Fitchberg, Her Brother-in-Law.

Minnie Hilpert Plays Detective and Arrests Her Sister.

Detectives Hunt and Levy, of the Eldridge street station, arraigned in Essex Market Court this morning a well-dressed young woman, who gave her name as Mrs. Lena Haag, of 2 East One Hundred and Thirtieth street, sister, Mrs. Minnie Hilpert, of 27 Forsyth street, makes a serious charge against her.

Mrs. Hilpert stated that her father, Louis DeLo, sixty years old, lives with her. On Friday morning last her brother-in-law, Oliver Fitchberg, who is married to another sister named Laura, paid her a visit. Fitchberg is not living with his wife. He deserted her seven years ago.

Mrs. Hilpert a short time later received a telegram. It stated that her sister, Olga, had been sick and requested her to go at once to 208 Third avenue.

Mrs. Hilpert left her home, leaving Fitchberg and her father together. Before she left she noticed that Fitchberg had got a pint of beer and a small bottle of port wine.

Mrs. Hilpert said that when she called at the above address to see her sick sister, she found her and her father. On returning home Mrs. Hilpert found her father asleep in bed, and her brother-in-law, Fitchberg, was gone.

A short time later Mrs. Hilpert received a visitor from the Bowery Bank, who asked her to go to the bank and whether he was desirous of withdrawing $250 from the bank.

Mrs. Hilpert stated that the bank messenger stated that a woman had called at the bank and wanted to draw that amount.

Mrs. Hilpert said that she did not know of her father's going to the bank for any money. She tried to arouse her father, who appeared, she stated, to be suffering from a drug.

The messenger from the bank then told Mrs. Hilpert to see whether her father had been robbed. Mrs. Hilpert made an investigation and discovered that her father's money chest had been broken in.

Mrs. Hilpert stated that the bank messenger stated that a woman had called at the bank and wanted to draw that amount.
